Truck testimony:

I went out for a walk in my hometown on Thanksgiving Day. I decided to walk through the automotive dealership I worked at many years ago. I prayed that they would have a truck that fit the description Camp Joy was looking for; they didn't.

The next day I stopped in to visit my friends who I worked with those years past, but who now own the dealership. I noticed a very nice red truck sitting on the lot. I thought it had license plates, so I assumed it belonged to a customer. I told the sales manager what I was looking for and he said, we traded for a truck like that this morning. We looked at the truck and he gave me a price. Later that day they brought the truck in to inspect it, so they could tell me if there were any major issues; there were not. Just a few items like sway bar link broken, front brakes needing replaced, front axle boot split, oil needing changed and that was it. The service manager drove it home over the weekend to make sure it rode and drove well, and he said it was tight.

I called the sales manager that next week, asked if he could do any better and he gave me a price of $9,150.00. I told him I would take it. (If camp didn't want it, I would use it for a while and sell it).

I picked up the truck on December 6th and learned that morning the dealership had repaired all the issues mentioned, detailed the truck, and filled it with gas. I drove it home and like the service manager said, "It drove nice and tight with no rattles." I truly see this as a provision of the Lord!
